Tour FHN's New Women's Diagnostic Center

The public is invited to tour FHN's new all-digital Women's Diagnostic Center at an open house from 3 - 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 21.

The Diagnostic Center, located inside the Imaging department of FHN Memorial Hospital in Freeport, offers the latest in diagnostic technology, including digital mammography and bone densitometry as well as stereotactic and ultrasound-guided Mammotome biopsies and hysteroscopic exams.

"Though technology is the 'brain' of this center, we've made sure that caring for patients is the 'heart,'" said Robin Scalise, FHN director of diagnostic imaging. "The center's private hallways and changing rooms will improve patient privacy, and we've upgraded everything from the changing rooms to the gowns patients wear while undergoing testing to make our patients feel more comfortable while they're here with us."

Visitors to the open house will also be able to meet FHN's new Nurse Navigator. When a patient requires further testing or treatments, Jennifer Schierer, RN, will serve as the point person for the entire team - including healthcare providers, the patient and her family.

Open house visitors may access the Women's Diagnostic Center through the Admissions waiting area near the Atrium entrance of the hospital. Please remember that all visitors to the hospital must check in at the registration desk in the Atrium.
